

POLY CERAMSM

Weather or not.

What a "total performance" coating means to a beautiful building.

Any metal coating looks good when it's new. But if you expect it to stand up to 20 years of sun, wind, acid rain, and temperature extremes, you'd better start with Whittaker Polyceram TML.

Breakthrough technology.

TML stands for "trifunctional monolithic linear" polyester. Which simply means that Polyceram TML is formulated to stand up to application, fabrication and installation. It's available in a spectrum of colors for cost-effective spray or coil application. And it's warranted for 20 years against the worst Mother Nature can dish out. Whittaker, of course.

There is only one complete line of premium coatings for architectural metals. And it's from the only name you need to know in coatings.

Whittaker.
Of course.
